Section 2.01     Disposition of Tangible Personal Property

I direct that my Personal Representative shall distribute my tangible personal possessions according to a separate “Personal Property Memorandum” or other similar writing, which shall be signed by me and kept with my personal records. It is my intent that such writing qualifies to distribute my tangible personal possessions under applicable state law. If such writing is not found at the time of my death, or ruled an improper disposition, this bequest shall lapse and my tangible personal possessions shall become part of my living trust. If any items of tangible personal property I happen to own are not mentioned in such list, such items shall become part of my living trust. If any such gift shall lapse, then such items shall become part of my living trust.
